Everyone has faith in the greatness of Colorado Springs, but it would be better if more people had faith in its immediate growth. If the city is to have a much larger population than at present after a few years, the increase is to be accomplished by a steady progress through all the intervening time. That such a process is being made cannot be a matter of doubt to anyone who has kept a careful eye upon the happenings of the past summer in this city. There is abundant evidence that population has constantly increased in the past months and the present crowded condition of the city affords the best of reasons for believing that next summer will show a great activity in building operations. It is true that the city is cramped at the present time both for house room and store room, and this condition of affairs makes it sure that the need will be met in the ever future. What the city needs more than anything else just at present is men who are ready to do a part towards helping on the good time coming and who are willing to prove their faith in the future by works in the present. The advertising which the city has received this summer is sure to bring a great many people here in the coming months, and as the city is already full it is evident that other accommodations must be provided for their reception.

The Daily Evening Mail, whose publication in this city was begun last evening is more frank and sincere than most of the newspapers which advocate the Weaver cause in this state. It prints the Omaha platform in full. We take great pleasure in reproducing it upon this page, believing that no stronger argument against the People's national ticket than this could be found. Some of our Democratic friends may be interested to know what they have endorsed and what they are expected to vote for. To some indeed these principles may seem all sound and reasonable and if after due reflection they decide that the interests of Colorado and themselves are to be advanced by casting a vote for the subtreasury plan, the operation of the railroads by the government and the distribution of railroad employees and the rest, let them cast their vote for these things. But let them not suppose by so doing that they will advance the cause of silver or imagine that the silver plank in the People's platform is anything more than an afterthought, inconsistent with the radical principles of the People's party platform, added to the platform at Omaha for the purpose of catching votes from the silver states.

The latest argument in favor of Weaver is from the Denver Times. Colorado, says that paper, is of no consequence in this election at whose Harrison is sure to be elected without our votes, and we are therefore free to show our disapproval or our petulance by casting the vote of the state for Weaver. There a few even among the Republicans who will say that Mr Harrison's chances are so good that it is safe to neglect four electoral votes from any state. We ourselves believe that Mr Harrison's majority in the electoral college will be greater than it was four years ago, but there is most certainly a risk, and the risk must be taken by everyone who votes this Greenback ticket. [illegible] Circular does not insure his election, but a vote for Weaver is a vote for Cleveland all the same.

If the fusionists can bring no more serious charge against Mr Eddy than that he was opposed to legislation in the interest of labor while he was in the Colorado assembly, they will not influence many votes against him. The course of an assemblyman or a senator is a matter of public record and it is an easy matter to prove or disprove such accusations. The records of the votes on various measures show that Mr Eddy has been a steadfast and consistent friend of measures designed to advance the welfare of the workingman. The fact that so groundless an accusation is made proves the scarcity of arguments against him.

The Grand Junction News, ex Democratic and now confusion organ, calls THE GAZETTE a nonentity in journalism. This is the latest of a series of things which are equally ill natured and uncalled for. In all humbleness we would suggest that a great metropolitan journal like The News is wasting too much of its valuable space on a journalistic nonentity. The People's party needs all it can spare in this line.

Labor commissioner Peck and his report continue to be the most active of the political issues in New York. There is no doubt but that the report was of great influence as showing the beneficial effects of the McKinley bill, and the Democrats are now apparently doing all in their power to increase the force of that report and to awaken an interest in its conclusions.

Clean Up the City

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. Sept 22 '92.

To the Editor of THE GAZETTE:

SIR—It is well that the governor has appointed a board of health to take due precautions against cholera, but such a board is useless unless the city will co-operate with it. A thoughtful man can but wonder that in a city noted for its intelligence there is no garbage gatherer who makes regular rounds to gather up refuse that accumulates till it is a menace not only on account of cholera but typhoid fever.

Here and there a family hires a man to come regularly, but so long as their neighbors cannot or will not take that course there can be no adequate protection for any one.

Ash pits which in southern hills slowly with ashes and hence are seldom emptied, are filled with refuse of vegetables and meat and constitute a hot bed for spreading disease.

Our high and dry location has been favorable for immunity from epidemics, yet many cases of typhoid and diphtheria can be traced to those accumulations of decayed and decaying matter.

These things ought not so to be in any city and certainly not in a city which holds out to the sick of the world the promise of healing.

If the people who care for the health and progress of the town will combine they can easily remedy the abuse. SANITAS

The Matteist Cure for Cancer

Boston Medical and Surgical Journal

The Matteist treatment of cancer was one of the most widely advertised of the numerous medical quackeries which have of late years. It became so widely known in England and so many testimonials of its wonderful cures were presented that it received a great deal of free advertising. In response to certain representations made by Lady Paget in a monthly periodical and by the editor of The Review of Reviews, a committee of investigation was formed in the early part of last year, to inquire into the claims of the treatment. The committee consisted of Sir Morell Mackenzie, Mr Lawson Tait and Dr G. W. Potter. It seems remarkable that a nostrum, the composition of which was kept secret, except that it was given out to be bottled electricity of different colors, supplemented by certain globules, should have been the subject of serious investigation, but as several people of influence and education had announced themselves as believers, and as the Matteists openly avowed that they courted full investigation, it appeared that to bring to light its true character would be an important public service. After the committee was ready to work, the champions of the cure began a series of tactics to prevent themselves from being proved impostors. At first on one pretext or another, they declined to receive for treatment each case of genuine cancer as it was presented to them. After it became evident to the public that they were doing this, they agreed to take five cases of genuine cancer of the breast. These five cases were treated by the Matteist system for a year, under the observation of the committee but as was to be expected they grew steadily worse. The editor of The Review of Reviews, who at the outset was a strong partisan of the method, and who appears to have acted in the capacity of an umpire, began to see that the Matteists were not gaining credit by their results. When these five cases were evidently not being cured the Matteists requested the committee to report on old cases which they produced claiming that they had already been entirely cured. This the committee declined to do, and the champions of the treatment began to make technical objections to different points in the investigation. The editor tried to keep them up to their part and explained away all objections which they raised. Finally the Matteists positively declined to continue the treatment of the cases under the observation of the committee thus making an ignominious retreat. The chemical analysis of the electricities the potions of the Matteists showed no other medication than that of plain distilled water. In spite of the exposure of the treatment of Count Matteist, the latest cure for cancer does not appear to have entirely died out.

The People's Platform

The Daily Evening Mail

We declare

First—That the union of the labor forces of the United States this day consummated shall be permanent and perpetual may its spirit enter into all hearts for the salvation of the republic and the uplifting of mankind.

Second—Wealth belongs to him who creates it and every dollar taken from industry without equivalent is robbery. "If any man will not work neither shall he eat." The interests of rural and civic labor are the same, their enemies are identical.

Third—We believe that the time has come when the railroad corporations must either own the people or the people the corporations, or else should the government enter upon the work of owning and managing any or all railroads we should favor an amendment to the constitution that all employes upon such roads shall for the time being forego the exercise of their rights of suffrage in accordance with the precedent established by the constitution of the United States as to the inhabitants of the District of Columbia.

Fourth—We demand that a national currency safe, sound and flexible, issued by the general government, a full legal tender for all debts, and without the aid of bank or other corporations, and that a just, equitable and efficient means of distribution direct to the people at a tax not exceeding 2 per cent per annum be provided, as set forth in the subtreasury plan of the Farmers' Alliance, or some other system almost by payments in discharge of its obligations for all the people.

Fifth—We demand free and unlimited coinage of silver and gold at the present legal ratio of 16 to 1.

Sixth—We demand that the amount of circulating medium be speedily increased to not less than $50 per capita.

Seventh—We demand [illegible] of the English [illegible] of the country should be kept as much as possible in the hands of the people, and hence we demand that all the state and national revenues shall be limited to the needs of government economically and honestly administered.

Ninth—We demand that postal savings banks be established by the government for the benefit of the earnings of the people and to facilitate exchange.

Tenth—The land, including all the natural sources of wealth, is the heritage of all the people and should not be monopolized for speculative purposes and alien ownership of land should be prohibited. All land now held by railroads and other corporations in excess of their actual needs and all lands now owned by aliens should be reclaimed by government and held for actual settlers only.

Eleventh—Transportation being the means of exchange and a public necessity the government should own and operate the railroads in the interest of the people.

Twelfth—The telegraph and telephone like the postoffice system being a necessity for the transmission of news, should be owned and operated by the government in the interest of the people.

Thirteenth—If congress should determine the Nicaragua canal or any national waterway necessary, the same should be constructed, owned and operated by the government and we oppose any subsidy or national aid to any private corporation for any purpose.

Fourteenth—We demand free ballot and fair count in all the elections and pledge ourselves to secure it to every legal voter without federal interference, through the adoption by the states of the Australian or secret ballot system. And we would remind the country that the remedy for existing evils is the breaking down of sectional and color lines by the success of the new national party and that the bayonets of the standing army that are used to destroy the liberties of the south may yet be turned against the breasts of the free people of the north.

The Impressive Lesson of History

The Democratic national platform denounces protection as unconstitutional and demands a tariff for revenue only. We have had that kind of a tariff in this country. We had it from 1846 to 1860. It not only afforded no protection—it was not intended to do that—but it failed to afford the revenue, which was the only object of its existence. After fourteen years of fair and patient trial the country decided in 1860-1 that it had enough of a tariff for revenue only and it returned to the American system of protection which had prevailed most of the time up to that period and has prevailed ever since. This is the impressive lesson of history. Can anybody give a single reason why the popular verdict of 1860 should not be repeated in 1892?—Boston Journal.

We legislate for the people of the United States and not for the whole world. James A. Garfield.

Cleveland the Believer

Martin Van Buren, one of the most astute politicians this country ever produced, and in fact the first of the long line of great American politicians regarded letter writing as a dangerous practice in a campaign. He would travel a long journey, even by stage, to confer verbally with a political confidant rather than write him a letter. Grover Cleveland might do well to imitate this example if not for his own good at least for the relief of the public.—Denver Sun.

Stevenson and His Exploded Maxims.

There was nothing new or forceful in Mr Stevenson's treatment of the tariff. His lament of a prohibitory tariff finds consolation in the fact that imports of merchandise at New York during the past three weeks were 48½ per cent greater than during the corresponding period of last year. But Mr Stevenson and his associates are now repeating exploded maxims rather than studying markets and facts.—Indianapolis Journal.

Agriculture, commerce and manufactures will prosper together or languish together.—Daniel Webster.

Good Times Make Republican Votes.

The outlook for Republican victory was never more hopeful. Every one feels the general prosperity, and good times always make Republican votes. The Democratic outlook is cloudy and uncertain and defeat is almost inevitable. With the defeat of Cleveland in November Democratic ascendancy will never again be restored." So mote it be.—Cleveland Leader.

Hill's Position Succinctly Stated

Senator David Bennett Hill's speech at the recent clambake of the Old Guard wasn't a long one, but about half way between the exordium and peroration we come upon a sentence that is just chock full of contemporaneous human interest. "For reasons too numerous to mention," said David, "I am a gentleman of leisure this summer."—Hartford Courant.

The Republican party the friend and protector of the American home.—Benjamin Harrison.

Uncle Sam's Corns Are All Right.

The shoe pinches but it doesn't pinch Uncle Sam's corns. The value of the importations of woolen goods under the McKinley bill has decreased $21,000,000 and of silk goods $7,500,000. But the consumption has not decreased, and the prices have not increased. Who pays the tax? Who gets the job of supplying the home market?—Burlington (Ia.) Hawkeye.

Grover's Pen Penchant.

Grover's penchant to write letters to Tom, Dick and Harry on the slightest provocation leads somebody to beg him to write one to David B. Hill. The country would read such a communication with interest but David B. in answer would be more interesting still.—Lowell (Mass.) Courier.

Almost Doubled.

The new fiscal year of 1892-3 has started out well for reciprocity. Our exports to Cuba for July were $1,094,229

against	$584,501

for July 1891.—New York Press.

We have prospered most when our industries have been most protected. John Sherman.

AMERICAN INVENTIONS IN INDIA.

Something of Interest to all Americans.

A Calcutta letter says that American inventions and discoveries are fast displacing the older ones of English manufacture in the Indian empire. Over a few years ago the American harvesters and reapers were entirely unknown, now they are many. The American telephone has been introduced in most of the large cities. Stranger than all the old fashioned huge pills are fast giving place to Dr Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, which were first introduced in London some years ago by their American proprietors. Every Englishman who enjoys good eating must have a liver pill and it is a curious sight to see, hath gushed persons draw from their waistcoats a tiny little vial of these Pellets and take one of them after dinner. After taking one you feel well instead of dull and stupid, have no sick headache, dizziness and constipation gone. Its long, mildly and softly to. These are tiny, sugar coated little things to results. These Pellets are laxative or cathartic. They regulate the liver, stomach and bowels equally well but gently and mildly. They are guaranteed to be [illegible]

Does It Pay?

Some people imagine that advertising does not pay Let them read the following received yesterday by THE GAZETTE

PUEBLO, COLO., Sept 21, 1892

The Gazette

DEAR SIRS—An ad sent to your paper from Denver as follows "Wanted—Young man to manage branch office in Colorado Springs, etc address room 211, McCarthy block, Pueblo," has brought so many replies that I will be bankrupt answering applicants. We have our man so kindly discontinue ad if still in paper. Yours truly,

FRANK N STRONG, 211 McCarthy Blk.

Two fire alarms within twenty minutes made lively work for the department last evening a little after 9 o'clock The first one came from box 41 and was caused by some loose excelsior in the rear of the upholstering department of the Colorado Springs Furniture company on Kiowa street near Tejon. A few buckets of water extinguished the flames. Only one company had returned to the city hall when the fire whistle began another tune. A tent opposite the electric light works took fire from a candle and burned up before the department was within half a dozen blocks Two persons were sleeping in the tent but they got out safely The loss was slight.

The county commissioners are having the part of the road over Cheyenne mountain constructed which crosses the Dixon and Broadmoor land. Toll has been charged at the Dixon gate heretofore but now there will be a free roadway by avoiding the Dixon gate. That gentleman claims that he has not been very generously treated by the county commissioners but has not decided whether a suit will be started or not.

At a special meeting of the Crowell Hose company held last evening it was decided to open the dancing season on Hallowe'en by a Firemen's ball for the benefit of a sadly depleted treasury The Crowells have asked no favors of the public for several years and all the while have been not the least important company in the department, so they expect to sell enough tickets and realize enough from the entertainment to put them well on their feet again financially

The Prohibition county convention meets in Weber hall at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Chairman Barber wishes all who are interested in the cause of prohibition to be present. Ladies are entitled to seats in the convention John Hipp will be present and will also deliver an address in the evening at the corner of Pike's Peak avenue and Tejon street.

Are You Looking For comfortable accommodations for the fall and winter? THE ALTA VISTA, Family Hotel, is better prepared than ever to offer attractions to permanent boarders. Without any reflection upon any hotel or boarding house, the Alta Vista claims to fill a midway place, to possess the best features of both and to afford greater privacy and independence greater comforts and conveniences than ever good boarding house can supply without the annoyances and disturbing bustle of large transient and commercial hotels

Distinctive hotel features are made as little apparent as possible while much is introduced to add to the homelike air of the house

The house is modern with electric lights and bells, elevator steam heat a table which has no superior hereabouts and efficient service in all departments

We would be pleased to have every one looking for comfortable accommodations call and inspect our rooms and learn of the advantages the house has to offer
